Hi everyone, I have searched the forum and can't seem to find info on ALS disease. Is there a suggested protocol for ALS using MMS? Or any alternative healing info available? Many thanks!

My Dad died from ALS, so I know what you are going through. I'm not sure if MMS can help ALS, but if I would have known about the "Deanna Protocol" I would have had him do that. It was created by a Doctor whose daughter was diagnosed with ALS. He quit his job and researched ALS to come up with a protocol that stopped her progression. For many people it is reversing it, or at the very least stopping it.

My brother was diagnosed with ALS. He has been on MMS for 2 months now for heavy metal detox, and just got out of the wheel chair. He had toxic heavy metals and is also using bentonite clay. The protocol that he is on is up to 12 drops now and 12 /50% citric acid in 8oz bottle of distilled water, taking 1 oz every hour and mixing this with added plain juice with no vit c what so ever.

He is also on magnesium high dose, amino acids in a protein drink, Vit-D 2000 units, B'complex liquid 5 htp and a good multivitamin.

He is also undergoing hyperbaric oxygen therapy. Had 10 sessions now, and is looking and feeling great!

He was a metal fabricator for Big Bombardier for 20 years. They hire them young and then discard them when they get sick.

Hope this helps
